

UNIVERSITÄT HOHENHEIM

The Institute of Animal Production in the Tropics and Subtropics, Section Animal Husbandry and Breeding, offers a postdoctoral position (50-75%)

starting 1st of June 2008. The tenure of the contract is up to 6 years. Salary is payed according to the German public employment scale (13 TV-L, gross salary 26.000-38.000 €).

The tasks include:

- Participation in research in the frame of research projects of the institute on sustainable breeding strategies and programmes as well as livestock production systems, mainly conducted in tropical and subtropical countries;
- Supervision of bachelor's, master's and doctoral theses;
- Teaching in English in modules on livestock production and breeding in the tropics and subtropics and as part of the organic food chain in international master courses;
- Scientific administration.

We offer the challenge to work in a motivated team in an international environment and give you an opportunity to carry out own research and training. The working time can be adjusted considering your individual wishes.

You qualify as ideal candidate if you hold a PhD in Agricultural Sciences with a major in Animal Breeding or a closely related discipline and have experience in research and development in tropical or subtropical countries. You are knowladgable in data management and statistics. You demonstrate good English and German communication skills (both written and oral) and like to work in a multicultural team.

Interested candidates should send their application including motivation letter, CV, copies of university certificates, a list of publications and a sample publication to: Prof. Dr. Anne Valle Zárate, Institute of Animal Production in the Tropics and Subtropics (480a), Universität Hohenheim, 70593 Stuttgart, preferably by email: valle@uni-hohenheim.de, cc inst480a@uni-hohenheim.de. Further information can be obtained from our websites (<https://www.uni-hohenheim.de>) or via email.

We regret that we cannot refund any application expenses. We are looking forward to receiving your application and refuse difference to be made because of gender, handicap, religion or ethnicity.

We are accepting applications until the position is filled.